Curry Teachers Thank Publishers For The Herald

"We wish to tell you how much me enjoyed the Herald during the school year at Curry. Each child was glad when Friday came and the paper was well worn by noon time.

"We thank the publishers very much for their thoughtful contribution to our pleasure.

"Our school closed very unexpectedly but we had kept our work done on time and lost only the three weeks work at the close. We will be behind those who can finish but feel sure we can soon do as good work as they.

The Greatest Moving Picture Ever Made

Saturday morning at 9 o'clock the doors of Cameron Theatre will be open for the first run of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," said by the celebrated Westbrook Pegler to be the greatest moving picture ever made.

The picture will continue until Midnight Saturday. On Sunday the show opens at 1 p. m. and continues until midnight and on Monday the same hours are to be given to the film. Stanley Swift said early Thursday he had made advance distribution of tickets to school children to insure a maximum accommodation at the show. He was confident that the show would be the best attraction of the year.

Mr. Pegler says:

You may think it an extravagant opinion, but I will say that Walt Disney's new film, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfts," is the happiest thing that has happened in this world since the armistice and stand on that. There are no words on my keyboard capable of appreciating, much less exaggerating, the beauty of this great artist's achievement in a work which took three years.

And it would be futile to try to communicate in print the enchantment which, for an hour and a half, soothes the souls of those who go to to be entertained, of course—for this is Disney who never fails—and presently find themselves disembodied and adventuring in a realm that never did exist before. Not even the great authors of fairy tales could have visualized anything like this, and the imagination of children could not hear the songs of the

HENRY G. LEHMAN IS ASKING FOR RE-ELECTION

Representative Henry G. Lehman is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative from the 65th Flotorial District, composed of Milam, Burleson and Lee counties, he announced today.

To the People of the 65th District:

Responding to the many inquiries that have been made, I herewith submit to my friends, the people of the 65th Flotorial District of Texas, my candidacy for re-election to the House of Representatives. After having been honored by the people of the 65th District, who elected me to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Jesse James, I have served 30 days in a Special Session in the Legislative Halls of Texas, working unceasingly to promote the welfare and best interest fitted to the people of my District, and the State of Texas as a whole. During the time that I have served as your Representative, I have always voted for fair and impartial legislation, keeping in mind the needs of the people of my District. As your Representative, I was present for every days work, in the Special Session, because I felt that the people elected me to be at work looking out for their interest. I have always voted in terms of strict economy, realizing the burden of the taxpayer. I have worked and voted for the proper support of our old age Citizens.

I have enjoyed my services in the House of Representatives, and have given to that service, the best of my ability. I am therefore asking the people of my District to allow me to help further the fight for the rights of the common people, by respectfully asking your vote and support as a candidate for re-election.

Sincerely,
HENRY G. LEHMAN.

Bill Story Thanks Freight Patrons for S. P. Lines Here

Bill Story was thankful this week over the success he had attained in a sign up campaign among his shipper friends in Cameron for shipments over the Southern Pacific lines.

Several years ago Mr. Story won a valuable award given to him by the company for having led the division in number of orders for freight shipments to be diverted over the lines of his railroad.

While no report has been received Mr. Storey was confident he again had led the division in getting business for his company. He has shown an increase in the number of signed authorities over the previous canvas.

"I am deeply grateful for the co-operation I was able to get among the business men. I feel I have many friends among them and the number who gave me their orders indicate that they appreciated my efforts. I have been with the Southern Pacific for a number of years and in every instance my friends have helped me by co-operating. I want to thank each one of them and take this method of expressing my appreciation, and I know that the Company appreciates this response to my canvas as much as I do. I will always be grateful for the thought of so many friends."

Finds Friends Here

COKE STEVENSON

Twice Speaker of the House, a statesman worthy the name, he found many friends here Wednesday.

Coke Stevenson Is Cameron Visitor; Finds Many Friends

Coke Stevenson, twice speaker of the house of representatives, and now a candidate for lieutenant governor, was in Cameron Wednesday visiting friends in the interest of his candidacy.

The former speaker, who is the only man in Texas history to serve two consecutive terms as house leader, is vigorously opposing the proposed plan of a unicameral legislature.

"The necessity of a check on legislation by two houses is just as important today as at the time this nation came into existence," Mr. Stevenson told friends here. He stated that the last vestige of government by the people will be abolished if the house of respresentatives is destroyed.

Stevenson is a native Texan, lawyer and statesman. Unable to attend the public schools, he is a self-educated man, having studied law while driving a freight wagon between Junction and Brady during his youth. He has served ten years in the legislature, and presided over the house for four turbulent years.

Dubbed as a conservative in Austin political circles, Stevenson's record in the house bears this fact out. He is the author of the state budget law, the state auditor's law and the law providing for the payment of county highway bonds out of the gasoline tax. This measure has saved Texas taxpayers $40,000,000 since it became effective in 1933.

Mr. Stevenson was accompanied to Cameron by Mitchell McLendon, editor of his home town newspaper in Junction.

The clinic was held in the buying station of Swift & Company with the Chamber of Commerce co-operating. F. E. Woodruff, chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, assisted Miss Porter in making arrangements.

Subject for the night service: "Looking into the Future." This message will be a review of the Bishops address to the General Conference that is now meeting in Birmingham, Alabama.

APPRAISOR IS NAMED BY WATER COMPANY

The Community Public Service Company notified the City government Wednesday it had named under protest an appraisor to serve in fixing the value of its properties in Cameron.

The Company will contest the legality of the option in the franchise giving the city privilege to buy the company by fixing an arbitrary value on its properties.

The City will now name an appraisor and the two will name a third appraisor. Failure to agree on a third appraisor might result in an indefinite delay of negotiations.

Apparently the city had abandoned its plans to build a plant with local funds plus government grants.

Rotarians Hear Cameron Soloists In Music Program

Cameron Rotarians on Wednesday appreciated a program of music from Grady Baskin and Lucile Stedman of the Cameron band. Along with director Francis Cox and Mrs. Cox they were guests of the club for the day.

It was regarded as the best musical program of the year and the young artists, fresh from their triumph in the contests in Waco, were bzoth applauded and congratulated on their talent.

In all 22 were present for the luncheon with visitors from Austin and Taylor.

For the remainder of the month the club will meet in the Camber of Commerce room, thus far no arrangements haveing been made for a permanent meeting place.

Baylor Faculty Member to Present Book Review Here

Miss Thelma Robuck of the speech department of Baylor University will be presented in a review of the book "The Prodigal Parents" by Sinclair Lewis at the Yoe High School gymnasium Monday night, May 9, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Robuck comes to Cameron for the review under the auspices of the Alpha Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi She was presented here last year in a review for the Parent-Teacher Association of the book, "Prayer for My Son."

The public is cordially invited to attend this review.

MAY BE GESTURE TO FACILITATE WORK IN HAND; WITHOUT FUNDS

A city owned electric light and power system may have been the aim of the government here Tuseday night when the Council adopted a standard form resolution accepting the terms of the Colorado River Authority now generating current under government supervision.

Although the city is without funds to complete its part of the financing which based upon a grant of 45 per cent would be compelled to supply 55 per cent of the total cost, the Council took another step in the direction of public ownership of utilities.

The action of the Council gives the City Government two major financial problems. It has in hand $150,000 for a water works and incomplete negotiations for a fixed value on present water utilities. Now that the government is looking in the direction of power and light utilities, it was expected that the people will hear additional demands for funds with which to build these competative properties.

Whether the Council was sincere in passing the resolution or felt the need of additional weapons to deal with utility questions in general, was open to speculation primarily because the city is without funds to consumate any appreciable financial program. The resolution is not regarded as a contract although its terms indicate the city is bound to complete its share of the program, if and when the government in Washington provides money and obtains a city sign up along the Colorado area.

As in all other negotiations involving proposals to buy or to build utilities in Cameron, there was no official statement for The Herald. Considerable opinion locally leans to the belief the whole matter was a gesture to facilitate pending plans and for negotiations the nature of which are not as yet revealed.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reno left Cameron last Saturday for Detroit, Michigan where they will visit the Dodge factory and drive home in their new Dodge sedan purchased through the Sapp Motor Company. From Detroit they will go to Louisville, Ky., and there witness the Kentucky derby, then on to North Carolina where they will visit in the ancestral home of the Reno family. If time permits they will go to Florida for a few days visit.

Cameron Band Scores First In Divisions Of Waco Contest; Seven Soloists Awarded Medals; Band Eligible for National Contest

The Yoe High School band returned Friday night from the Eastern Division State band contest, where they compelted in the concert playing, sight reading and the drill contest.

The Band made a clean sweep in all three of these contests, making first division in all three. In addition to the band winnings, the Yoe group carried up sevent soloists and all seven of them earned a medal. These soloists are Jim Baskin, baritone; Bruce Laird; David Wade, baton twirlers; Grady Baskin, cornet; Williard Skelton, trombone; Josephine Newton oboe; Julian Baskin, French Horn.

The medals won by David Wade, Jim Baskin and Bruce Laird are first division ones, and this first division rating automatically entitles them to enter the National Regional contest, if they care to. Also, the band is eligible to the National contest, with its first division awards. However, the band probably will not enter, as it has participated in two contests already this year, and the contest (National) falls directly in the students' final exams preparation, and the local authorities feel it unwise to prolong the contest season and jeopardize scholastic standings. However, the contest season has ended as the most successful in the history of the Yoe High band, and the students resume normal work with a job well completed.

County Agent, George Banzhaf, received a wire from A. A. A. Officials at College Station, Saturday, April 30th, stating that general soil-depleting crop acreage allotments had been increased for 1938 under the Farm Program.

Due to the fact that the State Committee has not completed making acreage allotments for Milam county, it will be impossible, however, to say at this time just what percent of the tilled acres will be allowed in soil-depleting crops other than cotton. As soon as these figures are known, the County Agent will notify individual producers.

The ninetieth birthday of Mr. Geo. F. Lange was celebrated at his home in the Vogelsang community on Tuesday, May 3, 1938. With his wife and family, he has lived there for thirty-one years and produced bountiful crops on his well tilled acres. On Monday Mr. Lange hoed a long row of tobacco which he annually grows for home use. Plenty of healthful work and exercise has kept Mr. Lange young, despite his ninety years. George F. Lange was born in Posen, Germany, May 3, 1848. There he grew up and there he married Wilhelmina Eisniann, June 27, 1880. Three years after their marriage they came to America, landing in New York City. They farmed near Catskill, New York for two years, then moved near Brenham in 1885. They lived there and in Falls County until they bought their present farm in Milam County in 1907. Mr. and Mrs. Lange are the parents of six grown children: Mrs. Helen Baumgarten of Rosebud, Paul Lange of Bell County, Mrs. Pauline Moeller of Houston, Emil, Herman and Miss Olga Lange of Vogelsang. One daughter, Mrs. Anna Mueller, died this year at her home in Rosebud, and two infant children died long ago. Among the birthday guests were Mrs. Lange's sister, Mrs. Augusta Kaulfus of Rosebud, Dr. G. B. Taylor and Jack Taylor and Judge and Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp of Cameron.

Mrs. Gladys Watson entertained with an early twlight "Grub" given in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. R Walter Hester, who have been living in Cameron for over a month, and left the first of the week for their home in Goldthwaite. The scene of the party was on the lawn of the home where camp chairs and tables were arranged with a camp fire in the rear where weiners were roasted and served with pickles, onions, olives, cottage cheese, sliced bread and hot coffee. Soda pop and cookies were passed, and souvenirs of the occasion were cow boy girl faces with large sombrero hats. J. J. Faulkner, of Austin, native of Milam county, who has been blind since three months of age, well known pianist and concert singer, was present and rendered a number of choice piano selections and sang several popular songs, playing his own accompaniments. Following the "Chow" the hostess took her guests to the "Round Up" party held at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Harsha.

One of the unique entertainments of the season was the "Round Up" given by the members of the Christian church Saturday evening at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. W G. Maurice Grove, dressed in "cow boy" attire, with lasso. Later a "Mulligan Stew" with bread, pickles and hot coffee was passed from improvised "Chuck Wagon" tables. A guest book was passed for all to sign up, all of whom are to be "Charter Members" of an annual Round Up" to be held by the pastor and members of the church. J. J. Faulkner, the blind musician, gave a number of attractive cow boy songs on the piano accorion and led the accopaniment for the choruses. MRS. FLORETTA STREETMAN HICKLIN

When one has proven by living that she has made life worth while for others and has unselfishly given a large measure of happiness to many, it is fitting that her passing be marked by a tribute of respect and praise to her memory.

The recent going of Mrs. Floretta Streetman Hicklin has touched many hearts deeply. Her gentle personality made her friendship most valuable.

Mrs. Floretta Streetman Hicklin died at her home in Weatherford, Texas, on Sunday, April 24, 1938. She was buried in Oak Hill Cemetery, Cameron, Texas, at 3 o'clock p. m. Tuesday, April 26, 1938. Rev. O. C. Acrey, Pastor of the Cameron Presbyterian Church, conducted funeral services at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. D. Brown. All of her children and grandchildren came to Cameron for her funeral. She is survived by five daughters, two sons and four grandsons, as follows: Mrs. R. D. Brown of Cameron, Mrs. Joe S. Picard and son, Joe S. Jr., Mrs. Allen Templeton, Mrs. Dallie Chislhom of Dallas, Mrs. Fred Broach and sons, Fred, Jr., and Bobbie, of Munday Texas; Mr. Tom Hicklin of Weatherford, Texas; Mr. Frank Hicklin and son, James of Ranger, Texas. One daughter, Mrs. John Flynn, preceded her in death.

Mrs. Floretta Streetman Hicklin was born in Cameron, Texas, February 15, 1863. Her father, W. B. Streetman, was for many years a prominent educator and later a merchant of Cameron. Her mother's maiden name was Louisa Green, daughter of George Green, a San Jancinto veteran and a member of the Nashville Colony, who married Martha Chance, daughter of James and Sarah Ann (Harrell) Chance, also a member of the Nashville Colony. Mrs. Streetman was born on Chance's Prairie in the present Burleson County. She was a student in the first Methodist College in Texas, at Rutersville.

Mrs. Hicklin's parents and grand parents were potent factors in the civic, educational, social and religious development of Cameron and Milam County.

In 1867, the first Sunday School was organized by W. B. Streetman. This Sunday School was inter-denominational and was attended by the entire community and became the parent of all the Sunday Schools in Cameron. When the first church organ was brought to Cameron, Floretta Streetman, then a very small girl became the organist and choir leader. She continued to serve until she moved away after her marriage. Her father's home was the social and musical center of Cameron until his sons and daughter grew up married and moved away.

Mrs. Hicklin was educated at the Old Acadamy in Cameron. This school was chartered as the Milam Liberal Institute on March 20, 1848. Her grandfather, George Green, was one of the Trustees of this school where his grand daughter developed into a model pupil.

"None knew her but to love her,
None named her but to praise."

Her social graces attracted many admirers.

She married Mr. Frank Hicklin on October 20, 1880. Her wedding was a social event and the day was also marked as the day the first train on the Santa Fe Railway reached Cameron. Mr. and Mrs. Hicklin made their home in Cameron for some time, later moving to Sweetwater and finally to Weatherford, where their children grew up. Mr. Hicklin died there May 5th, 1923.

Mrs. Hicklin has visited in Cameron annually and has kept in touch with Cameron affairs and continued lifelong friendships. She will be sadly missed in the home of her daughter and by her many friends who appreciated her character for its beauty and worth. She was beloved for her great mother heart, for her purity, her modesty and her devotion to duty. Her mind was superior. She taught religion by kindly deeds and exemplified the triune virtues, faith, hope and charity. Bearing golden sheaves of garnered duties well done, she has entered into rest.

Work of George Banzhaf, County Agent for 30 Years in Milam County, is Praised in Article Published in Extension Service

A tribute to the work of George Banzhaf, county agent for Milam County is here reproduced from the Extension Service, Review of February 1938:

With a vision of present-day agricultural trends, George Banzhaf started his county agent work in Milam County just 30 years ago this month. He was one of the first county agents to advocate and teach land terracing. He has met with signal sudeess in terracing and ranks as one of the leading terracing authorities of Texas.

"One of the greatest problems on the farms in Milam County is soil erosion," said Mr. Banzhaf. "The country is rolling, and the land has been washing away for the past 40 years. Back in 1914 I took up the newfangled scheme of terracing as an aid in building up the soil and have found it to be the most effective way of preventing soil erosion. During 1936 alone I spent 40 days running terrace lines on 45 different farms covering 1,358 acres in the county. Estimating conservatively, the terracing work done on these farms will increase the value of this land $8 per acre, or a total of $10,864.

"I believe that the present A. A. A. program of diverting a portion of our lands from soil-depleting crops to soil-building and soil-conserving crops is a wonderful help to agriculture," continued Mr. Banzhaf. "In this program the Government is paying the farmer to build up and conserve his soil. A good farmer should do this without benefit payments from the Government. He should build up and conserve his land for himself and for future generations."

Mr. Banzhaf's early extension work with the farmers was in the nature of introducing better planting seed and scientific cultural methods. "Take my early corn and cotton work, for example," reminisced Mr. Banzhaf. "Back in 1908 farmers thought seed was seed, so I established 75 demonstrations with as many men, each one planting 3 bushels of Government cotton seed and a little good Laguna corn seed. It was the success of these early demonstrations that made the work stick here."

His first outstanding success was in the boys' and men's corn-club work which started with the organization of a club with 100 members in 1910. Corn-club work was a success from the start, and the very first year the club had ninety 10-ear exhibits at the county fair.

In point of service George Banzhaf is the oldest county agent in Texas. He has lived in Milam County since the age of 8 when he came from his birthplace in Williamsport, Pa., to live with a married sister at Minerva, Texas. He received his education in local schools which were maintained only 3 months in the year, in the days when free school privileges were denied to students more than 14 years of age. Since the age of 16 he has been associated with agriculture, first as a farm hand on the farm of his brother in law, and later as a renter of 30 acres of land. At 19 he bought a farm near Minerva. Here he reared his family and lived until 1920 when he moved to Rockdale. A few years later the commissioners' court provided him with an office in Cameron.

Kin of Nashville Pioneers Attend Ceremonies Sunday

Present at the dedication of the state park at old Nashville on the Brazos River on Sunday afternoon, May 1, 1938, were many descendants of the Nashville Colonists.

Notable among them were Mr. Sparks McKay of Marlin and his sister, Mrs. Sam Mewhinney of Buckholts, a prominent member of Sarah McCalla Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution of Cameron.

They had five ancestors who came to Texas with the Nashville company. One commanded a company in the Battle of San Jacinto and others participated in that campaign.

Their great, great grand father, Michael Reed (1777-1859) their three great grand fathers, Col. William Crane Sparks (1778-1859), Capt, Benjamin F. Bryant (1800-1859), William Reed (1816-1891), first sheriff of Bell County, their grand on whose headright Dr. Dients, state historian of Temple, mentioned in his address on Sunday that the most interesting Indian mounds in Bell County have been found on Donahoe Creek; and came to Texas with the Nashville Company and were special friends of Empressario Sterling C. Robertson.

Mrs. Roy Harris,
Tracy Home Dem. Club,
Rockdale, Texas, Rt. 3:

"Every house wife wants an attractive kitchen. First you should consider the background, select lighter and softer shades for walls whether to be paint, wall paper, building paper or calsomine. Light materials for curtains at the windows add attraction; a flower box adds color. Arrange kitchen equipment to save time and space but yet not crowded. Light and ventilation should be given more thought for better adpustment," says Miss Dorothy Porter, Home Demonstration Agent as she discussed "Kitchen Backgrounds" and "Light and Air in the Kitchen" to the Tracy Home Demonstration Club at the club house April 20th.

Eight members and one visitor were present.

dwarfs or see the fawns and chipmunks, the rabbits and the squirrels tidying up the little house deep in the enchanted forest.

Many Concealed Tears

When the play was over and the rather hardboiled professional audience in the balcony reluctantly stirred to go, slowly as if loath to return to reality, there were some who made no effort to conceal the moisture in their eyes and others who honked in their handkerchiefs while furtively drying their tears. Disney had made these characters real while retaining the lovely unreality of fancy which may have the sound of a laborious paradox but is only an apologetic attempt to describe a miracle.

As Miss Pelswick wrote in the Journal, "Where other producers in attempting imaginative flights become self-consciously arty and pound out poetic significances with sledgehammer strokes, Disney presents the most artistic or far-fetched idea in so simple and understandable a form that the impossible seems perfectly natural." Yes, but he also seems to drug you with a potion which prepares the spirit to accept the loveliest illusions as reality to overcome for the moment the last, lingering thought that all this is too good to be so. He makes it so.

It seems to me that if Mr. Disney and those who worked with him do not mind our muscling in to that extent we all should claim and acclaim this moving picture film as a national achievement, because no other country on earth has produced anything that is even comparable, and any other country that did would be busting its buttons with national pride. The Americans used to have a reputation abroad as braggarts, but since the war we have become self-critical to a fault and the neighbors have taken us at our word, while many of them have gone to boatsing in a manner that makes our most offensive claims of the old days seem like apologies.

Really Modest by Comparison

George M. Cohan's war song "Over There" offended the British and French on the ground that up to the time of its writing the United States had done nothing to justify such self-appreciation, but it was really a modest little thought by comparison with some of the songs and speeches and writings of the Fascists and the Nazis in later years.

When Mussolini's son thought of entering the movie business his career was hailed in Italy as an accomplished fact and another triumph of Fascism, and the Nazis have been eating their hearts out waiting for Max Schmeling to win the heavyweight championship so that the title may be claimed as a national treasure and Max exalted to the status of state idol of the Hitler youth. In Hollywood, however, the most ordinary producers turn out as routine jobs films which would call for national honors and some more ribbons for the tunic of the Duce's kid if done by him in Italy. And the heavyweight championship—which has always lived here except, briefly, when Carnera and Schmeling dubiously held the title—has never been an article of national pride with us.

I am not overtelling you of the splendor of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." The whole country will be gasping over it soon, but it is an achievement which seems to justify some strutting. Yet when it happened in New York in the Radio City Music Hall—a theatre which in any other land would be a clamorous national boast—how did it happen?

This is how it happened:—At 11 o'clock in the morning a movie operator slipped the first spool on the axle, snapped on the switch and let it run. And that was the premiere of the greatest moving picture ever made.
